++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Unsettled with sunny spells and showers. Risk of thunder Sunday.

Today:
A cloudy start with showery rain, heavy at times. Turning increasingly showery for the afternoon with a risk of some heavy or, possibly, thundery downpours. Turning drier later in the afternoon with more widespread sunny spells as showers thin out. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers gradually dying out through the evening to leave a mostly dry night with clear spells. Rain or showers may linger overnight across far north Wales overnight. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Monday:
Dry for most Monday, with plenty of sunny spells. Scattered showers still possible, but lighter than on Sunday. Cloudier, windier and wetter weather arriving from the south for Monday evening. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Rain likely early Tuesday before clearing northeast. Unsettled Wednesday and Thursday, with a mix of sunny spells and showers; widespread and possibly heavy or thundery on Wednesday.
